GRANTS TWO INJUNCTIONS.

Judge Morse Restrains Railroad Company From Using Street.

Judge C. W. Morse granted an inaction yesterday in the suit against the Oregon Short Line Railroad company, brought by the Salt Lake Hardware company. By this action the railroad is restrained from using North Third West street as a place to pile old ties and rails in front of the hardware company's warehouse so that It interferes with traffic

Another injunction granted by Judge Morse yesterday was against the Salt Lake & Ogden railroad to prevent the onstruction of a spur track and wagon road thruogh property in lot 7, block plat A, Salt Lake City survey. The injunction was asked on the ground that the track and road would result in injury to property adjoining.
